#1: With microscopic hair comparison, even with the best notes, there is no way to determine the comparison was performed correctly. It appears that two hair examiners compared the hair and agreed to the match.

#2: The examination results set forth in the laboratory report are supported by the bench notes, but the documentation is marginally adequate. The notes are not dated and are in pencil. RQ uses abbreviations to indicate the microscopic characteristics of the hair. Some of these abbreviations are difficult to interpret. The technician does not document that any hair were recovered from Q1, yet one hair from Q1 was determined to match the suspect's head hair.

 testified that he compared the Q1 hair to the victim and suspect's head hair samples and

#2 (continued): determined that the Q1 hair matched the suspect's head hair and was dissimilar to the victim's head hair. The bench notes to document [redacted] examination and comparison were not provided for review.

#4: The testimony is not consistent with the bench notes for the same reason noted in #2. [redacted] testified that he compared the Q1 hair to the victim and suspect's head hair samples and determined that the Q1 hair matched the suspect's head hair and was dissimilar to the victim's head hair. The bench notes to document [redacted] examination and comparison were not provided for review.

#5: It is note-worthy to compare [redacted] testimony to Malone's testimony in other hair comparison cases.
